About Vienna

Vienna, Austria's vibrant capital, is a city that seamlessly blends rich history with modern innovation. Known as the "City of Music," it has been the muse for iconic composers such as Mozart and Beethoven. Its historic center, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, is home to remarkable architectural landmarks like the Schönbrunn and Hofburg Palaces. Visitors can also indulge in Vienna's famed coffeehouse culture, enjoying traditional treats like Sachertorte and Wiener Schnitzel.

The city's dynamic arts scene is complemented by world-class museums, the Vienna State Opera, and a calendar full of seasonal festivals that showcase its creative energy. With its abundance of green spaces, efficient public transportation, and high quality of life, Vienna merges timeless charm with contemporary sustainability, making it the perfect setting for the Biofuels and Bioenergy Expo. This event offers a unique opportunity to experience cutting-edge advancements in renewable energy within a city that is itself committed to a sustainable future.
